MEET THE COACH

BEAU ERICKSON

Beau Erickson is a former professional hockey player renowned for his significant contributions both as a player and coach. His hockey journey began in the USHL, paving the way to a memorable college career at the University of Connecticut (UCONN) where he captained the team and set numerous records. Post-college, Beau signed with the Toronto Maple Leafs organization, where he honed his skills with famed goalie coach Francois Allaire. He also played in the LA Kings organization, as well as in the AHL and ECHL, under the guidance of noted coaches like Ian Clark, Corey Wogtech, Corey Hirsch, and Sean Burke. Beyond playing, Beau starred in numerous instructional videos for WGoaltending and ProHybrid Hockey, greatly influencing goalie training methodologies. Transitioning into coaching, he served as a goalie coach in the USHL and consulted for USA Hockey's NTDP, further impacting the sport by nurturing future talents. Beau brings a blend of leadership, skill, and dedication to hockey's developmental and educational aspects.
